

Dong-Jae Eun

University of Washington
Department of Economics
Savery 338
Seattle, WA 98195-3330

Email: djeun@uw.edu
Homepage: <https://sites.google.com/site/djeun09/>

Research Interests

Industrial Organization, Applied Econometrics

Employment

Acting Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, University of Washington, Sep.2016-Feb.2017

Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, University of Washington, Feb.2017-

Education

Ph.D., Economics, MIT, 2017

Ph.D. Thesis: Market Imperfections and Market-based Policy Instruments

B.S., Economics and Electrical Engineering, Seoul National University, 2009

Research

Working Paper

Reducing ex-post adjustment by bid screening ex-ante: Evidence from procurement auctions for paving work

Is "Fries with That?" a Good Deal?: Cognitive Costs of Online and Offline Ordering

Voluntary Disclosure through Certification: Evidence from an Online Used Car Market

Work in Progress

Supply-side response of platform's quality screening (with Yuwei Wang)

Broadband High-speed Internet Demand Estimation (with Glenn Ellison and Juan Lavista Ferres)

Optimal mechanism for allocating contracts with ex-post cost overrun

Onsite versus Offsite Construction—The Impact of Offsite Construction on the Workforce (with Yong-Woo Kim)

Teaching

ECON 532: Empirical Industrial Organization I

ECON 483: Econometric Applications

ECON 482: Econometric Theory and Practice

Last updated: May 12, 2024